DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The claim contains subject matter not described in the specification as originally filed such as the block copolymer set for the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 3, 6, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bolduc et al (US 6,622,367).

Bolduc discloses a catheter (fig. 34) as claimed.

5. Claims 1, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mueller (US 4,801,297).

Mueller discloses a catheter (figs 1-2) as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1, 3-6, 8, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wantink (US 6,692,461) in view of Mueller and Bazell et al (US 3,884,242).

Wantink discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the inner surface of the distal tip curving towards the outer surface at the distal end.

Bazell and Mueller teach that it is known to make curved and smooth catheter distal tips to prevent tissue trauma. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Wantink's catheter tip with Bazell and Mueller's curved configuration since Bazell and Mueller suggest that such configuration would also prevent tissue trauma. Furthermore, the instant disclosure describes several block copolymers and materials as being merely preferable, and does not describe it as contributing any unexpected result to the catheter. As such, the claimed block copolymer in claim 17 is merely an engineering choice of design (lacking in any criticality), and it would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the catheter with the claimed block copolymer.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
9. In response to arguments about Bolduc, the claims are anticipated by the reference. It contains all the elements as claimed.
10. In response to arguments about Mueller, the reference contains the claimed structure. It does not matter how it is made or composed; structurally and in a whole, it contains the curved surface as claimed.
11. In response to arguments about Wantink, the reference and its combination include all the elements as claimed.
12. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Conclusion

13. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 3763

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
